Trommel - TriForm Vinaloop review:

Most people's first encounter with TriForm's 'Vinaloop' came with the sight of a clapping Christian AB alongside a grinning Ferro at A'DAM Toren with the video dominating the social media waves with cries of the usual 'Track ID???' to no success. After a few months of re-circulations, our shrugs of indifference led to the belief that this was an impossible-to-find track and would remain unknown indefinitely.

Except it wasn't an obscure, '90s limited press track from an even more obscure label, but the track 'Vinaloop', from TriForm aka Scott Featherstone, which launches Desyn's new label, Faciendo. The digging renaissance has elevated interest in older music like few could've imagined, with producers like Scott, whose records from the late '90s have fetched a pretty penny on Discogs, being able to release music to the masses some two decades later thanks to one of the finest diggers in the scene, Desyn.

The relationship between the two was sparked by the label head's natural curiosity for music. After Scott's music from his Deeper Audio Cuts had received heavy play in Desyn's sets, he reached out to talk about Scott's releases which have become highly sought after in the vinyl-hunting circles.
